

MONEY AND LAND

IF INTELLIGENCE SEEKS TO EXTRACT IT.

Senator DeLoatch's Bill How It is that the Bill is a Prize Among Farmers, and is Now in the Hands of the Legislature, by Which It Will Be Passed—Learn from the Editor.

ATLANTA, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—Senator DeLoatch, the owner of Riverside plantation, on the west bank of the Oconee, in this county, was in the city today. Speaking about his magnificent farm, he said:

"The farm comprises 1,700 acres, of which I cultivate 800. It formerly belonged to my grandfather, Captain Bass, who raised upon it a family of twelve children. I employ for wages and have tenants. Both farm hands and tenants are kept under fine control, and are supplied entirely by me. I have given my undivided attention to my farm for the past fifteen years, keeping accounts of all expenditures and receipts from all sources. I give special attention to the rotation of crops, and the consequent improvement of the lands. I make, with one mule or horse, from ten to fifteen acres, and an abundance of all kinds of cereals, excepting wheat. Prominence is given to the corn crop, but I also grow wheat, and the crop highly remunerative, both as a feed crop for stock and as a money crop. During the last eight years I have realized from fifty-seven and a half cents to $1.25 per bushel for all surplus corn.

I never turn out fields to pasture after raising small grain, for the reason that I attach special value to the growth of weeds, to be ploughed under, for enriching and improving the land. After each winter crop, I grow a cover crop as indispensable to the successful growth of cotton. Fertilizers always pay upon lands thus treated. I have made the present year, being a poor crop year, 1,000 pounds of cotton per acre on lands which eight years ago could not be relied on for one half of this amount. I raise large quantities of potatoes, for the feed of hogs and cows and for sale. All kinds of stock are fed of them, and but few farmers fully appreciate their value. I keep them in a cellar well up with brick, for the reason of my experience of twelve years I know they can always be kept in this manner.

"Do you raise fine cows?" "I do not raise in Jerseys, preferring Ayrshires. It does not exceed $2 per head to raise them, but I realize from $40 to $100. I have raised two cows giving six gallons of rich milk, making two pounds of butter per day. I only raise enough hogs to utilize what would be otherwise wasted. I keep from 100 to 150 in an abundant supply of green food for mules, in the form of barley, rice, forage and corn. The successive crops of the latter supply the stock through all the summer. As to fowls, I raise all kinds in abundance, and make fruit raising also a specialty. I have success in raising apples, peaches, pears, grapes, figs, pomegranates, cherries, strawberries and raspberries.

"I make large quantities of home made manures by keeping all the stalls where stock is kept well littered. This manure is applied broadcast in a liberal manner to lands near the house which has been brought to a high state of culture. Upon each land I raised this year 20 bushels of corn per acre, upon which eight years ago I considered 10 bushels a good crop. Labor is plentiful. I pay wage hands two-thirds of their wages at the end of every third month, reserving the balance until Christmas. I never give my hands orders on merchants. I am not troubled with hands leaving my farm during the year. I provide work for all the women and children, and thus keep them from the mischief which idleness always leads to, and at the same time I supply them with pocket money. Am rarely troubled with thefts by them, and settle all disputes among them and avoid the courts.

"I believe that two prominent causes of the failure of so many farmers are the failure to keep accurate accounts with their farms, and planting land too constantly in cotton. Lands upon which crops are not changed will soon fall, regardless of the quantity of fertilizers used upon them. I never buy ammoniated fertilizers, but use acid phosphate, kainit and cotton seed, these latter being supplemented by the cotton-seed meal when necessary. I can, by combining the two first and last, make an ammoniated fertilizer at $2 per ton and use 300 pounds of this to the acre.

"As a result of Senator DeLoatch's progressive, practical manner of farming, personally attending to the details of the business, and never buying farm supplies, but producing them, he has made much money and has a happy time enjoying it, living in princely style at his beautiful home, where hospitality is as lavishly given to the poor, tolling farmers as to the highest of the great of vast means.

THEY MUST HAVE BANKS.

Which is an Evidence that There is Money in the Land.

AMERICAN, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—On the 12th of January there will be organized a new bank in this city, with a capital of $100,000, to be known as the bank of South Georgia. It is generally believed outside the city that Mr. J. W. Speer will be president and Mr. W. H. C. Dyer, vice president. Mr. W. H. C. Dyer is a well known banker and assistant cashier. Will Jones, the efficient book-keeper of the old institution, will be retained by the new bank. The building now occupied by J. W. Speer & Co., and that occupied by H. C. Dyer & Co., will be combined into one, and when finished up nicely will be one of the handsomest bank buildings in the city. Under its charter the bank will have the privilege of increasing its capital stock to $200,000. From present indications it is believed that the bank will be the commercial center of southern Georgia.

Four Colored Gamblers Get Into Trouble in Elberton.

ELBERTON, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—George Oliver, William Mattox, Oscar Dwyer and John Holly, four negroes, were arraigned before Judge Carlton in the county court yesterday, charged with gambling. The evidence was conclusive against them, and they were sentenced to pay in each case, they will be apt to serve out the time, though they will apply for clemency on the ground that the fine is excessive.

Skipped with the Cash.

ANGUSTA, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—Thomas Hayden, news agent, operating on the Port Royal and Augusta and Knoxville railroad, skipped town last night. He owed quite a large amount of money to different merchants who had credited him, and sold out his stock and skipped town to get out of paying them. It is supposed that he went to Jacksonville, Fla.

The Age Death of a Mule.

FAIRBURN, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—In the southern part of DeKalb county, a mule while drawing the plow, in passing a stump broke through the surface into a hollow and came with his full weight on the stump, which broke his back, and he died in a few minutes.

Senator Brown on the Old Playground.

ATLANTA, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—Senator Joseph E. Brown and Mrs. Brown have been visiting relatives in this city. From what is learned here, there is no evidence to believe the report that Senator Brown cannot get his senatorial term.

A Serious Railroad Accident—Macon Adds One More to the Year's Fire Record—Captain Frank A. Hervey the Sufferer—Need of a Better Fire Service—Dead Given—Etc.

MACON, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—Tonight the incoming train from Atlanta, in backing in on the switch at the junction near the carshed, missed the right track, and the rear sleeper mounted a switch and collided with the rear car of the north bound train, smashing the platform and shaking up the passengers. The sleeper was derailed, the track disarranged and pretty badly battered. The north bound train took the passengers from the incoming train, and brought them back to the shed. It was delayed for several hours in consequence.

A MIDNIGHT ALARM.

Caused by a Dwelling Destroyed in Flames. The Baby Boy's Bonfire.

MACON, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—Last night at thirty minutes before midnight, little George Hervey, the baby boy of Captain Frank A. Hervey, called to his mother, "Mama, the boys have started my bonfire." The mother opened her eyes, and with a cry of alarm she awoke her sleeping husband with the exclamation, "The house is burning!" The spring that his feet, and found that an unoccupied room adjoining was ablaze, and the mad flames were rapidly licking up the weatherboarding and bursting out at the roof. Rushing to the room he found the fire had started in the boys' room, and then Major Wright and all the inmates were soon outside. The alarm spread quickly, and Messrs. John T. Voss, C. L. Bartlett and Dr. A. J. Battle and others came to the rescue, and began assisting Captain Hervey to save his furniture. The alarm was sounded from the city hall, but the fire being located away out beyond Mercer university, the companies could not reach to assistance.

Prominent Citizens of Milton Resort to the Knife.

ALPHARETTA, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—A serious affray happened at the courthouse between James W. Dodds, a prominent citizen, and P. D. McCleskey, on the other side, it grew out of an old feud between the Dodds and the McCleskeys, that has existed for some time past. Dodds and Rainwater, Rainwater's brother-in-law, and McCleskey is clerk of the superior court and a candidate for re-election. In the melee that occurred Rainwater stabbed McCleskey in the thigh, inflicting a wound six inches long and two inches deep. Had the wound been on the inside instead of the outside of his thigh, it would have severed the artery and produced death. While Rainwater and McCleskey were engaged in the fight, Mr. W. Dodds attempted to stab McCleskey when Skelton Bowen interposed to prevent him, and he turned on Bowen and stabbed him in the arm and cut a light gash, reaching from the back of the neck to his wind pipe. Had it been the sixth inch of an inch deeper it would have severed the jugular vein. None of the parties have been arrested. The grand jury at the February term of the court will investigate the matter.

THE DATE IS TOO LATE.

And the Negroes Take Advantage of It to Escape.

PERRY, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—General C. D. Anderson is generally held to be the most efficient tax collector in the state. He has collected $5,000, leaving but $2,000 to be collected from defaulters. The most important point, however, is General Anderson's declaration that the late date named by law for the books to be closed, December 20, has caused delay in collecting the taxes, but has resulted in an actual loss to the state and county—between $500 and $1,000 being lost to the public school fund. Many negroes have avoided the payment of their taxes by moving away before the books were closed. The attention of the representatives is called to these facts. General Anderson thinks the books should be closed on the 15th of November.

THEY ARE AROUND LUTHERSVILLE.

Mr. Pitt Jones His Mule and Catches the Thief.

LUTHERSVILLE, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—Mr. Pitt Jones, who lives near Puckett's, was attending a Christmas tree at Puckett's last Friday morning, and, during the exercises, a large negro, as black as the "ace of spades," came by and stole Mr. Pitt's mule. The mule was encountered by Mr. Pitt's son at Senola, trying to sell the mule. A lively chase ensued, and six miles below Senola the negro and the mule were captured, and now he lies in jail awaiting Georgia superior court. Fifty dollars reward has been offered for the negroes who stole Mr. J. L. Bean's cotton last week. It is hoped they may be brought to justice.

RICHARDSON RESIGNS.

From the Editorial Management of the Times.

SAVANNAH, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—The Daily Times this evening contains the resignation of the editor, B. H. Richardson, who resigns his connection with the paper with this issue. His resignation was tendered to the board of directors on the 23d of October as president, general manager and editor. It was not accepted until the 23d, when J. J. Dale was elected president and Mr. Richardson was tendered the editorship, but asked time for consideration, and gave final answer on the 17th of December declining the same. The resignation was accepted with the request that he remain with the paper during January and give assistance in the general management, which he consented to do a portion of the month. It is understood that he will remove from the city.

Bartlett and Dr. A. J. Battle and others came to the rescue, and began assisting Captain Hervey to save his furniture. The alarm was sounded from the city hall, but the fire being located away out beyond Mercer university, the companies could not reach to assistance.

The room that I first caught fire was full of household goods, packed up there for storage, and nothing was saved from it. From the parlor and other rooms a good deal of furniture and clothing was saved, but much of it was broken and soiled by the smoke and fire. The house burned almost down and the fire was over by 1 o'clock, and Dr. Battle had kindly conveyed the shivering lady and the children to his home near by.

It is impossible to estimate the loss as yet, but Captain Hervey thinks he has lost at least one thousand dollars in his furniture. The house was owned by Dr. Baxter. It was fully insured. Captain Hervey carried a small amount of insurance, and his mother had insurance, the policy of which would have lapsed on January 5.

Mrs. J. E. Rice, mother of Mayor Price, offered her services to the family, in a kind letter, and other neighbors came to the aid of the family in their hour of need.

The origin of the fire will probably forever remain a mystery. It will be remembered that reference was made to the queer actions of a tramp on Captain Hervey's premises, Wednesday night, when he was caught in the act of lighting a fire. The tramp was taken to the city hall, but he refused to enter that day. This causes it to look much like an incendiary act. The room had not had fire in it since Sunday, when Mr. J. and his wife spent the night there.

"This fire adds another argument to Macon's need for a better fire service. The nearest plug to this fire was so far away that it could not be used, and the alarm was so vague that it was long before the department was able to locate the fire.

An alarm was sounded from East Macon about one o'clock, but it proved to be false.

Had the wound been on the inside instead of the outside of his thigh, it would have severed the artery and produced death. While Rainwater and McCleskey were engaged in the fight, Mr. W. Dodds attempted to stab McCleskey when Skelton Bowen interposed to prevent him, and he turned on Bowen and stabbed him in the arm and cut a light gash, reaching from the back of the neck to his wind pipe. Had it been the sixth inch of an inch deeper it would have severed the jugular vein. None of the parties have been arrested. The grand jury at the February term of the court will investigate the matter.

THE DATE IS TOO LATE.

And the Negroes Take Advantage of It to Escape.

PERRY, Ga., December 31.—[Special].—General C. D. Anderson is generally held to be the most efficient tax collector in the state. He has collected $5,000, leaving but $2,000 to be collected from defaulters. The most important point, however, is General Anderson's declaration that the late date named by law for the books to be closed, December 20, has caused delay in collecting the taxes, but has resulted in an actual loss to the state and county—between $500 and $1,000 being lost to the public school fund. Many negroes have avoided the payment of their taxes by moving away before the books were closed. The attention of the representatives is called to these facts. General Anderson thinks the books should be closed on the 15th of November.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT
To My Patrons.

HAVING SUFFERED MUCH FROM ILL health for two years past, induced mainly by the extraordinary exposure incident to my business, I have decided, after ten years of unremitting labor, to adopt the advice of my physician and retire from the coal business.
With this end in view, I have sold my entire stock and interest in the business to Captain John T. Stocks, who will continue the business at my old stand. Captain Stocks has an established reputation here and elsewhere as an honorable and upright gentleman, and to him I can safely commend all my late patrons, who have for so many years bestowed upon me their highly appreciated favors. Captain Stocks has employed my late clerks, W. P. Powell and Francis B. Warren, and this morning took possession of my old yard, 27 Foundry street, and office, 30 Marietta street, where orders will be received faithfully and filled.
With sincere thanks to all my late patrons, and wishing them all a Happy New Year, I am,
Very respectfully,
J. C. KIMBALL.

To the Public.

AS WILL BE SEEN BY THE ABOVE ANNOUNCEMENT, I have purchased Mr. J. C. Kimball's entire stock and interest in the coal business, and shall continue the business at his old stand, as well as at my own. I have also employed his late clerk, Mr. W. P. Powell, who can be found at his old place, 27 Foundry street, ready to promptly and faithfully deliver all orders sent him for any kinds of coal formerly sold by Mr. Kimball. I have also employed Mr. Kimball's late bookkeeper, Mr. Frank B. Warren, who will remain at his post at 30 Marietta street, where orders will be received as before.

I have just returned from the mines, where I have contracted for a double supply of the best coal, and am prepared to serve Mr. Kimball's late patrons, as well as my own, better than ever before.
Soliciting your orders and guaranteeing satisfaction, with compliments of the season, I am,
Very respectfully,
JOHN T. STOCKS.

THROUGH THE CITY.
Pencil Paragraphs Caught on the Fly by the Constitution Reporters.

ACCIDENT.—Willie Hemphill, on Thursday, while shooting a parlor rifle, accidentally shot himself in the foot. The wound is not a serious one and Willie is getting along finely.

MR. J. C. KIMBALL.—As will be seen from announcement elsewhere this gentleman retires from the coal business today. Mr. Kimball has been for many years a resident of Atlanta, and is well known as an enterprising and valuable citizen. We are glad to learn that he is not to leave Atlanta. We wish him success in any new business in which he may engage.

SHE IS DANGEROUSLY ILL.—Mrs. Araminta J. Simms, widow of Colonel R. W. Simms, is dangerously ill at her daughter's home, 59 Walker street. Telegrams were sent to her son, Conductor Phil Simms, of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, at Newark, O., yesterday, telling him of his mother's serious illness, and asking him to come at once. Mr. Shack Simms is in the city now.

THE FARMERS' CONVENTION.—In addition to the delegates already appointed to represent Georgia at the farmers' convention in Washington city, on the 15th inst., Hon. J. T. Henderson, commissioner of agriculture, has appointed Hon. H. H. Carlton, Hon. James S. Foynton and Mr. W. B. Towers. The delegates will leave Atlanta on the 9th inst. Georgia will be represented by some of her strongest citizens.

POULTRY AND PET STOCK.—The first meeting of the Georgia Poultry and Pet Stock union for 1887, will be held in the rooms of the Agricultural department at 1:30 o'clock today. The meeting will be an important one. A number of specimens of coops for exhibiting fowls will be examined, and other matters relating to the approaching poultry exhibition will receive attention. Every member within reach of Atlanta should attend.

THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.—This tribunal resumed yesterday morning, Newman presiding. The case of James H. T. v. John S. Crockett, bill to foreclose a mortgage in Henry county, was called. The final decree was rendered for the complainant for $1,267 principal and $300 interest and attorney fees and costs. The petition of John C. Miller against Henry Fink, receiver of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, was dismissed.

A MOONSHINER CAPTURED.—United States Deputy Marshal A. C. Godfrey made a successful raid upon an illicit distillery in Rabun county, Thursday afternoon. A copper still, 65 gallons capacity, cup and worm, and some 300 gallons of beer and 40 gallons of low wine were seized. The copper was preserved but all the other fixtures were destroyed. W. C. Bradshaw, the owner of the distillery, was captured. He had a hearing before United States Commissioner Gaston and in default of $300 bail was committed to jail.

RICHARDSON-MINTZ.—Mr. W. S. Richardson and Miss Sarah Mintz were united in marriage last night at Mrs. Gartrell's boarding house, No. 61 West Mitchell street, the Rev. Dr. Barnett officiating. Mr. Richardson is a bookkeeper in the auditor's department of the East Tennessee road, and is a young man of most excellent character and habits. His bride is a young lady of many accomplishments, and is quite popular wherever known. The bride and groom and their friends were entertained by Mrs. Gartrell after the ceremony.

MRS. ETTA BARNES'S DEATH.—Miss Etta Barnes, a young lady of Greenville, Alabama, died in Atlanta yesterday evening. Miss Barnes came to Atlanta about ten days ago to remain through the holidays with relatives on Baker street. She had always been quite delicate and soon after her arrival in Atlanta contracted pneumonia. At first no fears were entertained by her friends and her relatives were not notified, but a day or two ago she began to grow worse rapidly and her mother was called by telegraph to Atlanta and arrived Thursday night. The remains were taken back to Alabama last night.

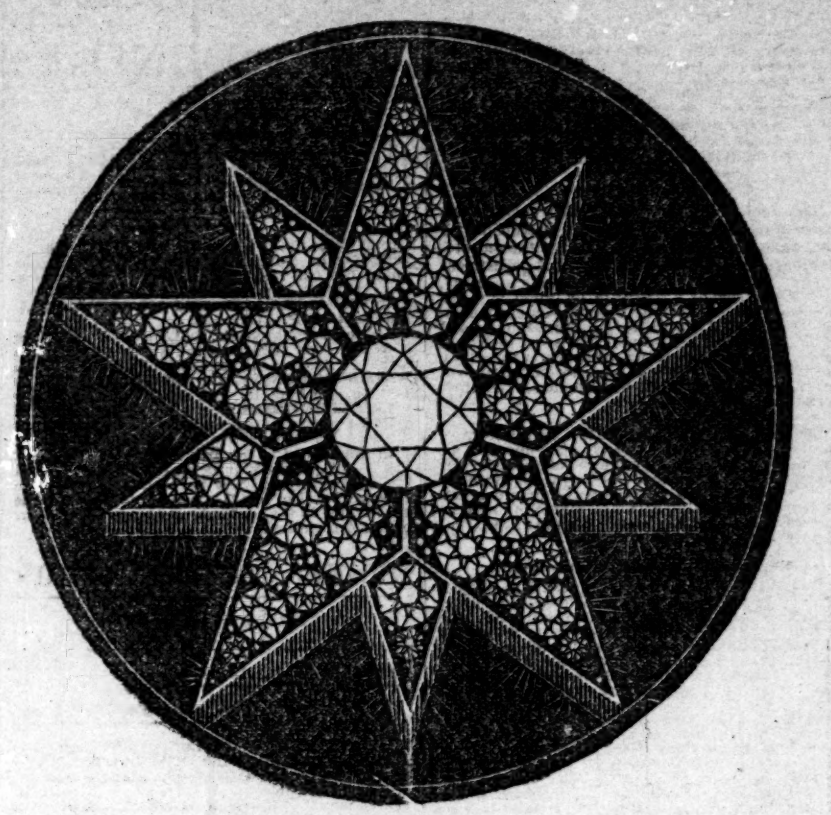

MRS. MARY E. BRYAN.—Mrs. Mary E. Bryan is in the city enjoying a brief respite from the literary labors which have occupied her in New York, and to which she will return very soon. On Monday evening, between the hours of 8 and 11, Mrs. B. F. Abbott will tender Mrs. Bryan a reception at the elegant residence of Colonel and Mrs. Abbott, on Peachtree street. The reception is given in order that Mrs. Bryan's Atlanta friends may have an opportunity of meeting her during her short stay in the city. Mrs. Bryan's friends are expected to be present without reference to any special invitation.

A BROKEN LEG.—Jake Bowman, a young man who lives near Fairburn, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon on Peters street, near the old ice mill. Bowman had been in the city and was leaving with a load of goods which he had purchased. He was driving two mules to a wagon, and when near the ice mill, stopped to fix a broken spoke. In driving the spoke back to its place Bowman gave it a hard kick. Just as he kicked his mules started off, and before he could extract his foot from the wheel or stop the team, the wheel turned far enough to break the leg below the knee. The man was brought back to a drug store on Peters street, where the fracture was adjusted.

THEY SOLD AT ONE SIXTEEN.—The Atlanta National bank has been advertising for days, five Atlanta city bonds for sale. Yesterday was the day fixed in the advertisement for the sale, and when the appointed hour arrived quite a crowd was on hand. The bonds belonged to the estate of E. W. Holland and had been deposited with Mr. Romare, the cashier of the bank, as collateral security for a note. They were of the issue of 1872 and expire in 1892. The rate of interest was 5 per cent, and when Mr. Harry Kreuse, the auctioneer, asked for bids there were many ready to purchase. The bonds were sold separately until the bidding started at 1.12. The first bond was purchased by E. H. Thornton at 1.15. Mr. O. C. Fuller took the next one at 1.16, and Mr. J. M. Fuller took the remaining three at the same price.

NEGROES GOING TO ALABAMA.—Not less than 500 negroes passed through Atlanta yesterday and last night on their way to Alabama, where they will work on railroads. Most of these colored emigrants came from South Carolina, but some are from North Carolina. They have but some few days to get ready to go, they declare, and they swear they will never again go back. When asked why they left the home of their fathers to go among strangers, they said, "because we were starved to death in South Carolina. There has been a good crop made in four years. Times are hard, taxes heavy, money scarce, the laws grinding, and we cannot stay there any longer. Besides, we have the promise of steady work and good pay." The party contained many women and children besides the able-bodied men. All seemed happy and full of hope. Another large party will pass through this city next large party.

The Markham House, Atlanta, Ga.
For sale by Sam'l W. Goode & Co., Agents.
This famous hotel was built of brick and stone in 1875, in modern style, convenient in its arrangement, has a long list of daily arrivals, holds the support and good will of old customers, and is one of the patronage of the transient public. It has 108 bell bed-rooms, well furnished, papered and painted, lighted by gas, opening out on a street or open court. Its office, parlors, arcade, reading and writing rooms, barbershop, billiard hall, bar, news stand, dining room, culinary department, laundry, etc., are very complete giving comfort to guests and economy to the proprietor. Water and bathing arrangements, gas, electric bells, and all modern conveniences are at hand. The sub-leases usually have the best of the house, which has never been less than $20,000. The three stories rent separately for over $2,000. The ground alone is worth $10,000, and the building cost more than that sum. It is so well protected by strong walls, fire plugs and hose attachments throughout, that the insurance rate is very low. Its location is the most advantageous possible, being only 10 feet from the center of the city and within 60 feet of the Union passenger depot. Baggage of guests always delivered free. The owner being too far advanced in years to sell it at a price which makes it the best investment now on the market in Atlanta, he terms the one and only chance to get it at one-third and three years with 8 per cent interest. Inspection is invited and correspondence solicited. Address for further particulars: SAM'L W. GOODE & CO., Real Estate Agents, Atlanta, Ga.
